END COMES TO OLD RESIDENT

JAMES T. HAYS DIES AT HOME THIS MORNING.

IN COUNTY SINCE 1859

Came To Missouri From Illinois In Covered Wagon.—Veteran of Civil War—Funeral Sunday.

James T. Hays, 87 years old, a resident of Nodaway County since 1859, died at 8:45 o'clock this morning at his home, 405 West Twelfth street, following a heart attack. Although Mr. Hays had been failing in health for several years, his death was sudden.

Funeral services will be held at the First M. E. Church at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be conducted by Dr. C. C. James, pastor. The body will lie in state at the church from 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mr. Hays was born April 4, 1838, near Blandinsville, Ill., and came to Nodaway County with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Hays, in 1859. The trip to Missouri was made in a covered wagon and lasted twenty-six days. The Hays family camped out all the way, spending each night by the side of the road, and arrived at Burr Oak Grove, southeast of Skidmore, April 4, 1859, the date of Mr. Hays' birthday.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Mr. Hays enlisted with the Union forces and served three and a half years. His first service was under Captain Jones as a home guard and in what was known as the Maryville Campaign in 1861 in which both southern and northern forces were active. Mr. Hays went as far south as New Orleans and as far east as Richmond, Va. He was mustered out of service in June, 1865, and arrived home July 4, 1865.

In the fall of 1859, Mr. Hays and his brother Richard dug the first well ever sunk at Burr Oak Grove. It was on their father's old homestead, where Vernon Ward now lives.

Mr. Hays was married to Laura Aurell Young, February 14, 1868. All of the children were born and reared at Burr Oak Grove. Mrs. Hays died in Maryville May 25, 1913. They had moved here in 1895.

Mr. Hays is survived by five children. They are Mrs. Elvira Dawson of Maryville, with whom he made his home, Mrs. Rolla Alexander, Elmo, Mrs. Will Argo, Skidmore, Pearl Hays, Skidmore, and E. C. Hays, Maryville.

After moving here, he and his son farmed forty acres near town for some time. He then engaged in the milling business, operating the Banner Mill for about seven months. He also engaged in the real estate business in Maryville for several years.

Mr. Hays was a life-long Republican, having cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln, the votes of his family and one other which they influenced being the only votes cast for Lincoln in Hughes township.

Mr. Hays delighted to tell of the pilgrimage of his father's family from Illinois to Missouri in the early days and related many interesting reminiscences of this journey which abounded in thrilling experiences.

7 WORKING ON STATE ROADS

MEN ARE REGULARLY EMPLOYED ON MAINTENANCE.

FAVOR LIGHT PATROLS

Heavier Machinery Being Replaced At Less Cost And More Efficient Service Has Resulted.

Seven men are now regularly employed in keeping state highways in Nodaway County in good condition, Martin Dechman, maintenance superintendent for Nodaway and Andrew Counties said today.

These men spend all of their time on maintaining the highways and are paid a monthly salary for their services, Mr. Dechman said.

A new maintainer and tractor have recently been added to the equipment in use in this county and are used in addition to the several graders and other road machinery alloted to Nodaway County by the state highway department.

Roy Hurst is employed in keeping up the road from the Iowa line south to a point about half way between Hopkins and Pickering. Virgil Morehouse is in charge of the work from this point north of Pickering to Maryville. A four-horse patrol is used on this read.

Thad Danford and Fay Hansen are the men in charge of the state road east from Maryville to Ravenwood and then to the Gentry County line. They use a tractor patrol for their work.

Frank Miller, using a horse-patrol grader, keeps up the state road north out of Maryville to Wilcox and Burlington Junction, and Lester Crane also uses a horse-patrol from Burlington Junction west to the county line.

J. W. Lucas is in charge of the maintenance work from the end of the concrete pavement south to a point half-mile west of Bolckow. Mr. Lucas also uses a four-horse patrol grader for this work.

The new maintainer is also used on the road to Wilcox and Burlington Junction and the tractor is utilized on the road to Ravenwood and east to the county line.

The road force has recently been reorganized in order to give more efficient service, Mr. Dechman said. Last year, eight men were used for this work but it was found that the roads could be efficiently maintained with one less workman on the state's payroll. The men are paid by the month and are to work on all the state roads in the county every day possible.

Some of the heavier equipment used here several years ago has been disposed of and lighter machinery substituted. The change has proved successful and Mr. Dechman believes that all of the heavier machinery used in Northwest Missouri will be gradually replaced with the lighter type.

In this connection, members of the Polk Township board are also considering making the same change and will probably dispose of the heavy equipment now on hand and purchase five or six four-horse patrol graders, which they believe will do more efficient work at less cost to the taxpayers.

EDWARDS SUIT IS DISMISSED

COURT RULES ASSIGNMENT NOT SECURED BY FRAUD.

WAS $33,000 IN DEBT

Assets Were Only $26,400, Defense Declares.—Large Number of Other Cases Continued.

Ruling that no fraud nor duress was practiced to cause George A. Edwards in 1921, to assign certain property to his creditors, Judge John M. Dawson yesterday afternoon dismissed his suit in Circuit Court against Oscar L. Muttie and Mrs. Sarah J. Edwards.

Edwards, a farmer living between Clearmont and Hopkins, had become deeply involved and, according to the defendants, he owed $16,000 to unsecured creditors in addition to about $17,000 in mortgages on his farm of 240 acres. The value of the Edwards land was estimated by Mutti at $25,000 and his personal property at $1,400.

On August 8, 1921, Edwards and his wife assigned their property to Mutti, who was to satisfy the demands of the creditors and return any surplus which might be left. In his suit Edwards alleged that he was not insolvent at the time and that false statements were made to him, among them that he would be arrested and sent to the penitentiary unless he made an assignment.

In 1924 Mr. and Mrs. Edwards were divorced, and Edwards made her a party to his suit.

Edwards' charges were denied by Mutti, who stated that he had administered the property as set forth in the agreement and that on June 6, 1924, he had paid a dividend of 15 per cent to the unsecured creditors. Up to this time, no objections had been made, he pointed out.

The finding of the court was that there is "no evidence of fraud or duress practiced on the plaintiff at the time of the execution of said deed of trust."

One Divorce Granted.

Stephen Worthington, defendant in a divorce suit brought by his wife, Mrs. Mabel Worthington, defaulted, and Mrs. Worthington was granted a decree of divorce and custody of minor children.

Charles D. Peters was granted a decree in his suit against Marcus A. Gaugh and others, to quiet title.

A new trial was denied Allen Brothers in their suit on contract against Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Watts. This suit, concerning sixty acres of land northwest of Maryville, formerly known as the Clive Graves place and owned jointly by the parties to the suit, was tried at the April term of court last year and the court found in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Watts. The Allen brothers sued on an alleged contract to pay rent amounting to $600.

By agreement the judgment of the justice was affirmed in the case of Willie Smith and others against C. A. McCoppin and others, an appeal from justice court.

In the suit on note of John L. Porter against J. M. Henderson and others, a jury was waived and a judgment was returned in favor of Porter for $328. The judgment was satisfied.

The following cases were set for trial next Thursday:

Katherine Jackson against the Bank of Skidmore, replevin.

SALARY ACTS ALL INVALID

ATTORNEY-GENERAL RULES ON SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS.

COUNTY CLERKS, ALSO

Prosecuting Attorney Decision Affects All Changes Made in 1921, Gentry Says.

Jefferson City, Jan. 15.—The salary act of 1921.—as regards county superintendents of schools and county clerks—is unconstitutional, according to an opinion handed down today by N. T. Gentry, attorney-general. The opinion was in answer to a letter from the prosecuting attorney of Ripley County.

Gentry based his opinion on a decision of the Supreme Court handed down December 22, 1925, making unconstitutional the section of the 1921 law fixing the salaries for circuit clerks.

Gentry held the Supreme Court ruling was of such a sweeping nature that none of the 1921 salary acts could be judged as constitutional.

Other opinions given by Gentry today included:

That a man convicted of violating the prohibition law and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail, cannot be released from jail until he has served his sentence and a sufficient number of additional days to make up the costs of the trial.

PROVOKED TWO HOURS OF FUN

H. S. PLAY LAST NIGHT LIVED UP TO FORECAST.

MISS FRANK A STAR

All Members of Cast In Graduation Production Carry Parts With Ability.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," a comedy-drama in three acts, presented last night in the auditorium of the Maryville High School by the mid-year graduating class, was given as stated in a press notice yesterday—taxed to the limit with over two-hours of mirth and merriment.

From the beginning to the end, the play was bubbling and sparkling. The cast was made up of those who have been actively associated with high school dramatics during their school career.

Miss Eva Margaret Frank, playing the part of Aunt Mary was the center of attraction whenever she appeared on the platform with her sarcasm, odd bits of philosophy, her seeming impatience with modern youth and finally her understanding of modern ways—culminating in the rejuvenation of Aunt Mary—giving up country life to adopt her ways to the city life, Miss Frank could not have carried the role in a more fascinating manner and be the Aunt Mary the audience would expect her to be.

Charles Stanfield as Jack Watkins Denham, Jr., triumphed as the leading male member of the cast.

Elizabeth Burnett, later known as "Granice" played by Miss Virginia Curnutt wove a delightful thread of romance and sympathy into the story.

Donald Bailey, Forrest Eckert and Donald Aley, playing the parts of Mitchell, Clover and Burnett, friends of Jack, warmed the hearts of the audience through their human understanding of "Aunt Mary" and their out-of-the-way attempts to make her feel happy.

Aunt Mary's "hired girl" and "hired man," roles which were played by Miss Ruth England and Porterfield Cockayne added a lust of humor and appeal.

Thomas Eckert, who played the part of Hal, a friend to the Burnett's was ommitted from the published program yesterday and from the house bills.

TO LOOK INTO BLAST OF MINE

DRUNKENNESS REPORTED AMONG FIRE BOSSES.

QUESTION SURVIVORS

Oklahoma Inspector Explains Possible Cause of Degnan-McConnell Mine Disaster.

Wilburton, Okla., Jan. 15.—Complete investigation was being made today into the cause of the explosion which Wednesday wrecked the Degnan-McConnell mine, causing the death of ninety-one miners.

Reports of alleged drunkenness among the fire bosses and other workers as well as the alleged inexperience of others entrusted to important jobs in the mine will be thoroughly investigated, according to Ed Boyle, Oklahoma mine inspector.

Boyle said he was of the opinion that carelessness caused the accident and will question the ten survivors. He will also enter the mine again today and examine the various entrances, he said.

Boyle explained that such an explosion as occurred was due to coal dust or mine gas. Technically, he said, they are known as "cyclones" and once they start, travel with great speed, gathering force as they go and carrying death and destruction to every recess of the mine.

WORLD COURT IS ABOVE ALL

NOTHING TO INTERFERE WITH ITS CONSIDERATION.

WOULD SIDE TRACK IT

Should Tax Bill Get Before Senate, Court Would Be Put Aside Temporarily.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Alarmed over the prospect of the World Court being displaced on the Senate calendar, administration leaders this afternoon abandoned their previous policy of going ahead with appropriation bills and announced nothing would be allowed to interfere with consideration of the court.

The result was that those opposing the court were put on the defensive and forced to hold the floor with continuous debate, with only a handful of Senators in the chamber. Fernald, Republican of Maine, and Blease, Democrat of South Carolina, made long speeches against American adherence.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Staggering along under stinging attacks from the insurgent camp, the proposal for American adherence to the World Court today faced the first of a long series of delays in being sidetracked while the Senate considers revenue and appropriation bills.

Administration leaders planned to call up the 868-million-dollar postoffice and treasury supply bill during the day, thus forcing the court temporarily out of the Senate spotlight.

Further delays will be encountered in reaching a decision on the court by consideration of other appropriation bills and especially of the new tax reduction bill, which will reach the Senate for debate early next week. If court adherents attempt to push their measure before the Senate in preference to the tax bill, they will meet certain defeat.

A majority of administration spokesmen, including some who have led the fight for the court, have announced their determination to follow President Coolidge's request for early enactment of the tax bill, even at the price of delaying final action on the court.

Democratic finance leaders also have served notice they favor consideration of the tax bill rather than continued debate on the court.

Once the tax bill gets before the Senate, the court question will be sidetracked for a month.

A LAW-MAKING PEOPLE.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune generously and wisely calls attention to the fact that Congress is not alone in its law-making propensities. Many of the very persons who decry the legislative orgy into which Congress falls at every session are themselves over-active in a similar line.

Business and industrial organizations often have so many rules and regulations for employes to follow that the latter never learn them all or quietly disregard them as much as possible. Schools often have too many rules even in these days of advancing student government. Homes sometimes have too many rules where a few simple standards of co-operation, service, self-respect and obedience would answer the need for domestic harmony far better.

Someday we may outgrow this national habit of rule-making. At present, however, everybody is doing it, from the national Congress right down through the state legislatures, municipal councils, business organizations, school bodies and private homes. It should be more profitable to our souls to be a law-abiding nation than a law-making one.

Crown Prince Carol, resigned and broke, can always get a movie engagement in this democratic land—or a bride, if his wife will let him.

"The general policy of this government in favor of disarmament and the limitation of armament," as President Coolidge says, "cannot be emphasized too frequently or too strongly." So we're going over to Geneva to limit international armament to the limit.

White Houe Telegraph Key Has Eventful Time

President Frequently Called Upon to Press Button and Open Some Big Event

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer

Washington—When President Wilson in pajamas at 3 o'clock in the morning sleepily signaled for the opening of the San Diego exposition, he probably gave the most picturesque touch yet felt by the famous White House gold telegraph key.

But there have been many distinguished fingers upon the virgin nugget. Edward W. Smithers, veteran chief telegrapher at the White House, who was handed the key as a gift by President Taft, will be proud to tell you the history it has made and still is making.

"You know how people are, when they start some big affair they like to have the president press the button," says Smithers.

"Well, this is the button. The key first was used on the afternoon of June 1, 1909, to open the Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition at Seattle. It's base is white Alaska marble, and the metal parts are solid gold, except the actual electrical connections. Studded over it, you see, are a handful of gold nuggets, the original ones discovered by George W. Carmack in the Klondike in 1896.

"It was a great ceremony, that first time. President Taft made the connection on the 6000-mile circuit which made the gates fly open and put the world's fair on its way. It was in the East Room, and a great crowd of ambassadors and senators were there.

"The pajama incident in connection with the San Diego exposition was due to their desire to have things open at midnight, New Year's eve, just as the new year of 1915 came in. That was 3 o'clock here. President Wilson agreed and had himself awakened. He walked down stairs in pajamas and bath robe, yawned and pressed the key, then said 'Happy New Year' to the White House people and went back to bed.

NOW COMES TARGET PRACTICE.

What Other Editors Say

THE HARUM-SCARUM SENATE.

The present session of Congress again exemplifies the reversal of the roles of the House and Senate. The former, designed to be popular and responsive, is the conservative and hidebound branch. The latter, originally the calm and orderly body of elder statesmen, has become an arena where the public will is given expression and where the liberal and independent thought of the nation is given play.

In some quarters the metamorphosis is alarming. Thus, Robert T. Small, writing from Washington, describes the Senate as "harum-scarum, ready to rattle off on a will-'o-the-wisp chase at a moment's notice and slow to come back to anything approaching normalcy." He pictures the prim and prissy, boss-ruled House as the paragon of legislative efficiency, and predicts that during the present session it will have "loads of idle time on its hands while the disorderly Senate is threshing things out in its own peculiar and inimitable style."

Mr. Small thinks the Senate is about to begin "another investigation spree," and he cites the aluminum inquiry as a beginning of the debauch. Lincoln, as he did in the case of Grant, would have demanded to know the brand the Senate uses, so that he might send a few barrels to the House. It seems, according to Mr. Small, that when the House starts on an inquiry, generally someone sits on the proposition and "the House is heard of no more."

Of course, the seventeenth amendment changed the theoretical position of the Senate as a legislative body, and the actual change of that body has been accomplished largely since then. Under the old system there were few men like Borah, Norris and Walsh, and many who went to the Senate as the prejudiced or corrupt representatives of those special interests which could afford to buy them.

It may be true that the present-day Senate is destructive of legislative efficiency, and that the Senate goes off into the highways and byways of inquiry and investigation at the expense of orderly government. How else would such an ill-smelling and heavily insulated business as the Aluminum Trust case get official attention? How else could any independent or minority view be represented? The Walshes and the Norrises in today's Senate are doing what the Madisons and the Gileses did in the early history of the House.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

IF IT ISN'T FOLLY, WHAT IS IT?

There are new symptoms of an anthracite coal strike settlement, but no certainty. Both sides to this controversy have incurred irreparable loss. It has just been shown that since the hard coal strike the production of soft coal has increased 15 per cent over the same period of last year. In bulk the increase is 310,413 carloads. There seems to be no suffering for lack of fuel. Consumers have adjusted themselves. Apparently if they can run into mid-winter without anthracite coal, they can run all the way through, and other winters as well. That is what a good many of them are likely to do, even when the hard coal supply again becomes ample. Unquestionably still other losses, and probably large ones, have resulted from the use of oil where coal was used before, and this loss is likely to be permanent, for the burning of oil involves rather expensive installations.

It would seem, therefore, that what is the loss of the anthracite operators and miners has been the gain of the soft coal miners and operators and the oil producers, while the consumers have merely changed their fuel and go along without much hardship or even discomfort. From almost any angle, the strike seems foolish and stubborn and like self-punishment.—Kansas City Times.

IMMIGRATION LAWS.

A man comes to this country from Russia, lives here awhile, decides to return to his native land, and smuggled himself on board ship. Arriving at Liverpool the British authorities ask for his papers. He hasn't any—so they pack him back to America.

At Ellis Island he can't prove he'd been here before, so the authorities return him to England.

The British authorities say: "What! You here again?"—and send him to America on the same ship. He's due to be shifted from one ship to another until he can be palmed off on some other country.—Macon Chronicle Herald.

Even if life does have its ups and downs you might as well bump along.—Hannibal Courier-Post.

Charlie Chaplin in New Film at College

The College is going to have a distinguished visitor next week—on the screen—and all Northwest Missouri has been invited.

The individual referred to is no other than the inimitable Charlie Chaplin in his latest screen scream, "The Gold Rush." This is one of the most expensive pictures the College has ever booked. It will be shown at 7:45 o'clock, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with a matinee at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

In this picture Chaplin is seen as a pathetic tender-foot struggling along with hundreds of others who are in search of gold in the Klondike.

Poetic pathos and whimsical comedy are cleverly blended in this film. There is one scene in which Charlie, a bedraggled bit of humanity, finds a sympathizer and sweetheart—a girl in a dance hall. She dances with the little tramp who beams over her shoulders into the eyes of his rival, a wealthy miner.

The scenes aboard a big steamship are full of human interest. The luxury and comfort of the first cabin are contrasted with the misery, want and sickness in the steerage. There is the little man who a few years before went on the long hike to the Klondike, and who now aboard the great vessel is seen wrapped in costly furs. He is unhappy because he has lost his girl. But in the steerage there is a girl returning home from Alaska wishing she could find her dear little tramp again.

Auto Rudely Breaks Baby's Sleep

But George Jr. was unhurt.

Nodaway County's Poet Thinking of Old Home Farm In Illinois

Nodaway County's homespun poet is in a reminiscent mood today.

He is not thinking of the great cities with their traffic jams and their sidewalks lined with pedestrians, or of all these new-fangled inventions of the twentieth century, such as automobiles, airplanes, radios and the like. But his memory wanders back to a little farm near Tiskilwa, Ill., where he wooed and won Miss Dora Gyger.

Charles C. Tebow, popularly known as "Jerry," and Miss Gyger were married just thirty-seven years ago today. She had been a "schoolma'am" and had boarded at the Tebow home. "Jerry" took advantage of this and many a night he and Miss Dora talked of the weather and the moon and the stars—just as many young couples have done before and since.

One night "Jerry" got up enough courage to "pop" the question, and, glory be, she accepted—Just why, "Jerry" is unable to give a satisfactory answer.

Then they were married and came to Nodaway County Missouri, and settled on a farm seven and a half miles southeast of Maryville. This was in 1889. They lived there for twelve years and then moved to Ravenwood where they resided for seventeen years, afterward moving to Maryville where they have since lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Tebow have five children. They are: Kenny Tebow, 903 West Second street; John D. Tebow, Hill Rose, Colo., Frank Tebow, singer, now with the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass in evangelistic work; Harold Tebow, Chicago and Miss Helen Tebow, who is teaching in Braddyville, Ia.

"Jerry" has been called Nodaway County's Eddie Guest because his "homemade poetry,' as he calls it, has appealed to all, regardless of caste or class. His poems have been read by thousands throughout this section and his contributions have frequently been published in the Democrat-Forum.

Mr. and Mrs. Tebow are not having any formal observance of their wedding anniversary today. The following poem regarding the big event was written by "Jerry" himself:

Thirty-seven years ago today,
We launched our little boat,
On the sea of matrimony,
And started it a-float.

When first it cleared the breakers,
And the white sails took the breeze,
We took turns at the tiller,
And guided it with ease.

When one would act as captain,
The other was the mate,
And though we often had to tack,
Our general course was straight.

The sea was sometimes high and rough,
As our boat sailed along,
But all hands stood their watch on deck,
When anything went wrong.

As time went on we added,
Five members to our crew,
'Twas they who often saved us,
From wreck when storms would brew.

Some of the crew have left us,
To sail crafts of their own,
While we who started way back there,
Are sailing on alone.

The old hull creeks and rattles,
With every passing gale,
Let's hope it holds together,
'Till we anchor in the vale.

Priest May Enter as Candidate for Senate

St. Louis, Jan. 15.—Ex-Judge Henry S. Priest, St. Louis, who polled 50,860 votes for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1924, on a platform opposed to prohibition and the Ku Klux Klan, announced yesterday he may become a candidate for United States senator.

In a prepared statement, Priest said that unless the Democratic party of Missouri pronounces upon certain "great issues" confronting the country, his "sense of duty to the people" would impel him to run.

Priest outlined his position on public questions and said that "if there is no other way to unmask dissimulation" he would take the platform. He reiterated his stand against prohibition and announced his opposition to participation by the United States in the world court.

The MAN With a BANK ACCOUNT Is Never Discouraged

Perhaps Jones needed a bit of "hard luck" to teach him a very important lesson. He had always boasted he could earn enough to support his wife and children, that he was still young and in good health, hence it wasn't necessary for him to save money, etc.

But recently, when his firm quit business, he found it wasn't so easy to go from one job to another. Employers always put him off till "next week." Bills were piling up at home. Jones began to look discouraged. That didn't help him find a job.

It was many weeks before he was finally able to get work; and the worry and hardship he went through made him determine that as soon as he cleared off the unpaid bills, he was going to start a savings account at the Farmers Trust Company—even if he started with five dollars!

PADEREWSKI AND ADVERTISING

"I practice every day," says Paderewski, the piano master. "If I fail to practice one day, I myself can notice the effect upon my playing; if I neglect the piano two days, the critics notice it; if I don't practice for three days the public notices it."

Doesn't this same thought apply to consistency in advertising?

PATIENTLY AWAIT ANOTHER MIRACLE

But Missionaries in Bagdad Have Hopes.

A delightful story comes from the Christian medical missions in Bagdad to the Youth's Companion. In the lovely date-palm gardens of the city a thief was discovered, not long ago, robbing one of the trees of its luscious fruit. The owner, a hasty, passionate man, promptly shot him, and the man fell from the top of a lofty palm to the ground. He was hurried away to the Christian hospital, with a bullet in his body, a broken arm and a shattered leg. On his way he begged to be put beneath a Moslem roof, even if it were a prison, rather than be left in the clutches of dogs of Christians. But, as he was a criminal, his captors paid no attention to his wishes.

At the hospital they speedily put him under an anesthetic, extracted the bullet, set his broken limbs, and before long he was comfortably settled on a palm-fabric cot, trussed up with dressings, but alive and likely to get well. For a long time he was very suspicious and surly and would have little to say to the missionary whenever he attempted to converse with him. But gradually he yielded to the kind treatment he received and one day he astonished the missionary with the remark: "This is a miracle! It's a place of miracles!"

"We deal," replied the missionary, with much more difficult cases than yours, Ibrahim. You should see some of them."

"Ah! That is not my meaning," replied the man. "As I have been lying here I have seen rich men come to the door of this hospital and offer jewels even to half their wealth to the surgeon to come and attend their wives and children; but always he says, 'The poor must come first'; and he who might be so rich slaves here in the heat night and day for wretches like me, who can give them nothing. That is a miracle!"

Indeed, so touched was Ibrahim by the loving sacrifice of his new friends that he simply had to be turned away from the hospital when he was recovered.

"But what can I do for you, sir?" he begged. "Is there nothing I can do?"

"Yes," replied the surgeon, "send me some more patients."

"Allah!" cried Ibrahim. "Here is a man who might have all the world if he asked for it, and all he wants is more work. You are a miracle, sir! But I will do something for you. Do you like dates, sir?"

"Yes, I like dates," said the surgeon, smiling.

"Then, sir, let me know when you want some, and I'll always steal them for you!"

The missionary and the surgeon shook their heads over their patient, as he left them, and one remarked to the other, "Another miracle is wanted there, but evidently we've made some impression. Let us have hope that the rest will come in time."

Men's and Women's Clothes

A professor in Berlin recently had the curiosity to weigh first the wearing apparel of his assistant and the wearing apparel of the assistant's wife. He found that the man's boots alone weighed as much as the woman's entire clothing, and that in every detail the woman's garments were greatly lighter than her husband's. The result attained has led a woman critic to write on men's dress in the Spectator, London. She points out that it is remarkable that while in the last twenty years woman has steadily decreased the amount of clothing that she wears, there has been little fundamental change in male attire, and asserts that it may possibly be that man catches cold because he wears too much clothing and clothing of the wrong kind.

Movement of Secession Is on Foot in Alaska

Government Similar To Denmark Follows Dissatisfaction Over Results of Congress.

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 15.—Dissatisfied with the results of Congress to enlarge the powers of the territory of Alaska has resulted in an open movement for secession from the United States by Alaska, it has been learned here.

This movement was at first treated as a joke, but according to the latest reports it has gained considerable headway.

Those who support the move ask that the United States relinquish Alaska and that the territorial waters and withdraw all future governmental expenditures.

They advocate a government similar to Denmark with the provision that the president must be the ruler.

Makes Scathing Attack on 'Foreign Diplomats'

Senator Says They Are Debauching American Girls and Keeping Houses of Ill Fame.

Washington, Jan. 15.—In a scathing attack upon "foreign diplomats" in the national capital, Senator Cole Blease, Democrat of South Carolina, this afternoon charged members of the diplomatic corps were furnishing liquor to women, debauching American girls and keeping houses of ill fame.

Blease directed his fiery attack on an unarmed diplomat "who served liquor to an American girl in a Washington cabaret recently and saw the girl arrested and carried away to the guardhouse while he escaped under his diplomatic immunity."

The Senator warned that the situation was leading up to the rewarding of a foreign agent in the assassination of President Coolidge." The speech stunned the Senate.

Around Our Town

If I were to live my life over again, I think I would aspire to be a newspaper man again.

On the whole, to me it is far more satisfactory than any other profession. It carries that inside-warmth satisfaction. There isn't any money in it and never will be. But money is the least of the satisfying elements of this world.

For one thing, you are always behind the scenes.

You always have the sense of sitting at a great pipe organ and pulling the stops which play the tune to which the world dances.

It is the opposite of fiction writing. In fiction, you take the materials and draw the picture on the clean canvas. In newspaper writing, the fun is to sit and wonder what is going to bob up next out of the rat hole.

There is no profession in the world in which there is so much dramatic suspense.

And then the romance of it. To take just words and play with them, trying to mold them as a sculptor does his clay, into things which will please those who view the finished product.

The charm lies in the swiftness; the glory lies in being accurate—deadly so; the joy is found in a world of hard work; and the utmost satisfaction lies in trying to do it well.

Yes—I'd want to be a newspaper man again.

Charley Martin, famous for almost everything pertinent to one of African persuasion, stood behind the counter at the Roach Cafe this noon. His hands were folded in front of him as, all eyes and lips, he seemed to be crooning a plantation lullaby. The words were soft and low, in a rich baritone voice.

"By golly! That's a rare voice," someone said.

Just then the owner called to Martin. He came to earth and moved away—from in front of the loud speaker, just as the announcer said, "The next plantation song from Station XYZ will be—."

Bob Lamar, the sage of Elmo, dropped in the Democrat-Forum office about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and held up publication of the paper for some minutes. But it was worth it. Anyone who knows Bob Lamar will say so.

Bob says he's going to sell his farm again. Everytime he comes to Maryville he is ready to retire or go into politics. Says he'll take any office the people thrust upon him.

That Maryville business and professional men were not always as serious and sedate as they now are is proved by the following extract from a newspaper of twenty years ago.

It is reported that the club in question was a dancing organization, and that many were the good times it afforded.

"A number of the young men of Maryville at a meeting held last week formed a club, the name of which is the 'Copus Club.' They have rented Calumet Hall for their club rooms. The following are the members of the club: Leland Denning, Albert Kuehs, Ed Schumacher, Richard Fleming, Ferdinand M. Townsend, Warren Tompson, James Todd, jr., Edward E. Williams, George Herren, Oliver Bovard, Bruce Montgomery, Joseph Jackson, jr., Lawrance Ray, Ralph Marcell, Court Toel, Silas Briggs and Merrill Alderman. The officers are: President, Ferdinand M. Townsend; vice-president, Leland Denning; secretary, Lawrence Ray; treasurer, Edward E. Williams."

There is a professor at the State Teachers College. All of the teachers at the College have the rating of instructors, except this man, who is professor. It all happens this way:

Joel Trullinger is official man of motor affairs at the temple of knowledge. He drives the College bus and the College car and takes care of both. Yesterday he received a letter from a local bank addressed, "Prof. Joel Trullinger."

So Joel is now a professor—head of the automotive department.

What Nodaway County Churches Are Doing

A VISIT ON A HOUSETOP

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for January 17, 1926.

Read John 3.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

All Jerusalem was crowded. The hotels were filled, the homes entertained guests, relatives from the country took this time for a visit with relatives who lived in the city, tents were stretched by the sides of the road under the trees, in groves and gardens hundreds slept and made their little camp fires. All the roads were crowded for miles in every direction. For it was Passover time.

Recently strange rumors had begun to reach the city. The news was spread from hovel to palace. One story was that at a wedding in a small country place a young man from Nazareth, a guest at the wedding, had performed a miracle. He had taken jars of water and turned that water into wine. This did not disturb the people of Jerusalem very much. Some laughed at it and said they could do the same thing. But other stories came. This young man has gathered about him other young men and is teaching a new doctrine.

Then all Jerusalem was startled. The young man of the rumors, accompanied by some of his followers visited the temple. He almost caused a riot. He overturned the tables of the merchants who were using the temple as a place in which to sell doves and other things bought by visitors for sacrifice. He went further than that and denounced the money changers for using the temple for such a purpose.

This news was brought to the seventy grave and reverened rulers, who made up the Jewish Senate called the Sanhedrin. They talked it over. Some said that these men ought to be arrested and thrown into jail. Others laughed at them and hinted that their indignation was brought about because they received graft out of renting these stalls in the temple and this made the indignant members madder than ever. A young member over in one corner who was very devout and held his position in high honor, suggested that the stranger might be right, the temple was holy and ought not to be used in any such manner.

Among the members of the Sanhedrin was a man of high standing, a rich man, an aristocrat, one whose position as a leader was his of right from birth and service. He was also a student. He listened in silence, perhaps he smiled a little. He was the kind of a politician who never missed a trick and right there he concluded that he would make a quiet investigation on his own accord.

That night after a dinner of rich foods and old wines, served in his home Nicodemus got his cloak and his staff, called his favorite servant and bade him get a torch and go with him. Previously Nicodemus, the Senator, had found out where this stranger who was causing so much comment was stopping. He gave the servant the street and number and the torch threw a sufficient light along the narrow way for them to follow.

They stopped at a square house. A stairway, outside, carried them to the roof. On the roof was a chamber and there Nicodemus met Jesus. He was sitting at ease and there was a light at hand, a wick floating in a bowl of oil. Nicodemus saw a handsome young man with a thin face and unfathomable eyes. Student of men as he was he at once changed his method of approach. The old man looked the young man over, the aristocrat faced the commoner, the man of wealth interviewed the man who had no material possessions, the city man faced the man from the country.

I would have liked very much indeed to have heard this conversation, to have a short hand record of what was said. John tells us about it in the third chapter of his gospel. He must have had the incident from Jesus. We have only a question or two and the answers. Nicodemus complimented Jesus and was astonished more and more as the conversation developed. He wanted to know about the Kingdom of God and how to find it. Jesus said,

"Except one be born anew, he can not see the Kingdom of God." Nicodemus was startled. All his life he had won his battles, he had attained wealth and high position, his thoughts were on the successes of this life. He should have caught the idea immediately for he was perfectly familiar with the method of making a Jew out of a Gentile. The Jews called it a new birth and when a proselyte was circumcised and baptized and became a Jew he was even permitted to marry his next of kin on the theory that he was a new man. But Nicodemus was surprised and his material mind thought only of material things.

JESUS AND NICODEMUS
John 3:5-17.

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee. Except one be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the spirit is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born anew.

8 The wind bloweth where it will, and thou hearest the voice thereof, but knowest not whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; so is everyone that is born of the Spirit.

9 Nicodemus answered and said unto him: How can these things be?

10 Jesus answered and said unto him: Art thou the teacher of Israel, and understandeth these things?

11 Verly, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that which we know, and bear witness of that which we have seen; and ye receive not our witness.

12 If I told ye earthly things and ye believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you heavenly things?

13 And no one hath ascended into heaven, but he that descendeth out of heaven, even the Son of man, who is in heaven.

14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up.

15 That whosoever believeth may in him have eternal life.

16 For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life.

17 For God sent not the Son into the world to judge the world; but that the world should be saved through him.

Golden Text—"God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life." John 3:16.

A great many of us are so busy making money, so busy reaching for fame our minds are so filled with schemes and plans that we have no room for any spiritual thought and do not understand it when we do come into contact with it. A lot of us do not even do as Nicodemus, go where we may expect to have contact with spiritual things. Nicodemus went away that night with something to think about. We like to think that he became a Christian, we know that he defended Jesus once afterward in the Sanhedrin and that he brought tribute at his death.

At this time the world was in a state of flux. People were dissatisfied, the church was not functioning as it should, the temple was profaned with men making money and preying on others, ritualism and form ruled. It was a materialistic world ruled by materialistic men.

Today we are in much the same condition. Old ideals have been swept away. Religion in its many forms has fallen into the ruts of formalism. Doctrines and theologies are handed out to us as the real thing and if we do not accept them we are heretics. The young men and women are finding themselves in a new freedom of thought and action. Old standards are tottering. Why, they ask, should we spend our time in church listening to things which are of no particular interest to us. I am not indicting the preachers. I am simply stating the facts.

It is no good threatening. We can not scare people any more talking about Hell and punishment hereafter. Westcott says "The great mystery of religion is not the punishment but the forgiveness of sin, not the natural permanence of character, but regeneration." Regeneration, what does it mean? You must be born again, what does it mean? I knew a man who at forty was a wicked man. He had broken most of the commandments. I met him a few years afterward and he was a devout church man, he had turned completely about and lived his life in constant communication with God. He was happy. He had been born again. Here was a regeneration anybody could understand. This man, like Nicodemus, heard about Jesus and made him a visit one night and asked questions. He came away a new man. He had been naturalized as a citizen of the Kingdom of God.

If you had the news that Jesus was in Jerusalem today and living in the little chamber on the roof of the house not far from Main street, you would want to go to see him. You would make that long trip and feel well repaid to see our Lord and talk with him.

You do not have to do that. You can call on him this evening if you wish. He is ready to answer your questions. The great thing which John gives us in the fourth Gospel is that Jesus is not dead, that he is living, living right by your side today. That is what he meant when he said that the Word became flesh and dwelt among us.

Could Believe Both in Evolution and Divinity

Knowledge of Scientific Date Necessary First to Discussion of Origin of Man, Speaker Says

New York, Jan. 15—The catholic church would not refuse to recognize proof of scientist that man descended from an animal but this discovery would not affect the certitude that the soul of each and every man was the living creation of God, Msgr. Joseph H. McMahon said in an address here on ignorance and evolution."

"No one has a right to discuss evolution unless he knows first of all what is the evidence adduced by botany and paleontology tending to confirm the theory of general evolution in a mitigated guise," Msgr. McMahon said.

"There are many living men with less cranial capacity than the ape, yet such evidence found in fossil remains is used to support theories of the existence of an ape-man," he continued.

Dogmatic assertion by laymen of the truth of the evolutionary theory, he said, is due to ignorance of those departments of science upon which is it postulated.

Another New Year's Sermon by Allison

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. S. P. Allison will preach on the subject "New Associations for the New Year." During January the Sunday morning services are on the general topic, "New Things for the New Year," "New Ambitions for the New Year," and "New Abilities for the New Year" have been the two sermons of the group already preached. Each of these sermons is a complete unit, though relating to the other sermons of the series.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock "Philip, the Evangelist," will be the subject. Philip was one of the "Seven" often spoken of as "Deacons" chosen to help the apostles in the work of aiding the poor in Jerusalem. Philip and Stephen were the two most prominent.

At the morning service the choir will sing the anthem "Like as a Father Pitieth His Children" by Hatton. Mr. Bronson will sing at the evening service the solo entitled "How Lovely are Thy Dwellings," by Liddle.

Boston Catholics to Visit Chicago

Boston, Jan. 15.—Thousands of Hub Catholics are preparing for a pilgrimage to Chicago to attend the International Eucharistic Congress there from June 20 to 24.

Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State and nine other princes of the Church from Rome, it is expected, will take part in the Congress, which will be attended by 1,000,000 Catholics.

Eucharistic congresses are gatherings of ecclesiastics and laymen for the purpose of celebrating and glorifying the Holy Eucharist and of seeking the best means to spread its knowledge and love throughout the world.

Chicago will become a gigantic sanctuary when the Congress opens June 20. It will start simultaneously all over the city at noon when solemn pontifical mass will be celebrated in each of the 350 Catholic churches in the Chicago archdioces. Solemn vespers and benediction will be given throughout the afternoon and evening.

On the second day, according to plans announced here, 50,000 children of the parochial schools of Chicago, clad in white, will sing "The Mass of the Angels" at the Stadium, where a Cardinal from Rome will be celebrant.

On June 24, at Mundelein, Ill., a mass will be celebrated on the 1,200-acre campus of St. Mary of the Lake Seminary by a visiting Cardinal from Rome. A huge parade will encirele the three-mile shore line of the lake of St. Mary. In line will be cardinals, archbishops, monsignori, priests, and laymen. The Blessed Sacrament will be carried under a canopy. Choirs, stationed at intervals around the lake, will sing hymns.

Notes of Services and Activities of Various Churches in the County

(Editor's Note: The following announcements are taken from the various newspapers published in Nodaway County. As some papers have not yet been received at the Democrat-Forum office, announcements from a few other churches are not available.)

BARNARD CHURCHES.

(Barnard Bulletin).

PREACHING AT CHURCH OF CHRIST SUNDAY

Bro. T. L. Gray will preach at the Church of Christ in Barnard Sunday. Bro. Gray has been holding a meeting at Whitesville. He is well known here, having lived in this community for some time.

Christian Church.

The regular monthly musical program was given at the Christian Church Sunday night with a very good crowd in attendance.

The weather conditions kept a number who were supposed to be on the program from attending and some extra numbers were obtained at the last minute to fill the places, making a very complete and interesting program. Among the pinch hitters was C. L. Phillips, who always pleases with his solo work. Another was the violin quartette composed of Mrs. W. G. Benson, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Elba Hagan and C. L. Phillips. Mrs. Ed Adams with her son, George and daughter, Anna Mae, formed a musical trio with Mrs. Adams at the piano, George with the cello and Anna Mae with the violin. The other numbers were equally as interesting and no effort is made in mentioning these names to pick the best numbers.

The following program was given:

Song—Congregation.
Invocation—Rev. Hagee.
Song—Congregation.
Piano Duet—Louise Hunt and Pauline Davis.
Recitation—Carol Burns.
Piano Duet—Agnes Smith and Elmina Fields.
Vocal Solo—C. L. Phillips.
Song—Congregation.
Trio—Mrs. Adams, George Adams, Anna Mae Adams.
Violin Quartette—Mrs. Benson, Mrs. Elliott, Elba Hagan, C. L. Phillips.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. R. W. Bridges.
Benediction.

The following committee was appointed to have charge of the February Musicale—Mrs. Harry Hunt, Mrs. Elmer Hamilton, Mrs. Paul Campbell, Mrs. J. G. Skidmore.

BURLINGTON JUNCTION CHURCHES.

(Burlington Junction Post).

M. E. Church Notes.

The union services are over. They closed last Sunday night, with a fair sized crowd, a fine sermon by Brother Ragsdale. They resulted in much good to the community. The spirit of harmony and unity has been most splendid. Other meetings of the kind will be planned in the future.

Remember the services next Sunday morning. The Sunday school begins promptly at 9:45. Be on time, and in your class at that time. The public service begins promptly at 11 a. m. Let us have a great crowd at both of these. You are welcome.

J. Howard Thompson.

HOPKINS CHURCHES.

(Hopkins Journal).

The Revival Meeting.

The meeting at the Methodist church began as announced last Sunday, with a good attendance at both services. The change in weather caused a falling off Monday night, but the song service was spirited. Mr. Eddins' solos are attractive and helpful. You will be delighted to hear him. Come out, you are welcome.

The sermons so far are merely introductory, but later in the week and on Sunday morning the pastor will dwell upon religion in the home.

Beginning Sunday night there will be a series of sermons especially to young men, but they will be helpful to everybody.

Mr. Eddins this week made an address at the high school, which was highly appreciated by all.

The meetings will continue from night to night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The boys and girls held their first meeting Tuesday afternoon and organization work was completed. They will meet again tomorrow after school and on Saturday night will give their first boys and girls concert. This, according to Mr. Eddin, will be very interesting and a splendid program is promised.

Sunday Dinner At Church.

All members of the Christian church are asked to attend church next Sunday and bring their dinners. Sunday school will be as usual, at 10:00 a. m., preaching at 11:00, dinner will be secved at 12:00 in the basement. There will be a short program at 2:00 o'clock and also election of a new church board.

Uusal services on next Sunday morning. Sunday School at 9:45; preaching service at 11 o'clock. Epworth League at 6:30. There will be no preaching services on Sunday evening on account of the revival at the Christian Church.

Christian Church.

The revival meeting at the Christian Church began Monday evening. The audiences and interest have been good from the beginning. With the coming of settled weather the audiences will increase from night to night.

The Pickering Church will send a good delegation Friday night.

Mr. Orlo Lincoln, our leader of song, is from Pickering and is in high favor with the home church, as he conducted the singing in the recent revival there.

He is immensly pleased with the way Ravenwood folk take hold of the singing. He will increase in favor as the meeting advances.

The aim for the Bible School next Sunday is 175 in the classes. Let everyone get into line for a great campaign.

J. T. Alsup, Pastor Evangelist.

CLEARMONT CHURCHES.

(Clearmont News.)

Baptist Church Notes.

The revival meetings closed on Sunday night with a fine congregation present, and a fine spirit, the last was the best service, three were added to the church, one of these by letter and two by experience and baptism, these last are not yet baptized. The church was greatly revived and the sermons of Rev. Prather were highly appreciated. The community was greatly blessed by the meetings, bad roads and bad weather hindered the attendance, yet the congregations were good all through the series. Our people would like to have Rev. Prather with us again.

Sunday school 10:00 o'clock. Regular preaching services morning and evening on the fourth Sunday.

We welcome all worshippers to our Father's house. Meet us there.

W. W. Laughlin, Pastor.

M. E. Church Notes.

Good Hope had a nice attendance last Sunday morning, sixteen being present besides the preacher.

There were twenty-eight at Sunday School in Clearmont last Sunday. Why have a church and help pay its running expenses and then not attend and get its benefits. The wise thing to do is to get out to the church services. Come to Sunday School and preaching next Sunday morning.

Preaching at Prairie Temple next Sunday at 10, if the weather and roads permit.

H. F. Dorcas, Pastor.

Christian Church Notes.

We had a fine school last Sunday. Come out and help make this a real school.

You must be on time if you expect to get all the benefit from Sunday school. The first fifteen minutes are of real value to you.

We are highly gratified at the spirit and attendance at our Union week of Prayer meetings and look forward confidently to other meetings of the like nature.

The pastor attended county church board meeting at the First Christian church in Maryville last Saturday.

We surely sympathize with the Elmo church in the loss of their building by fire last Sunday.

The pastor conducted two funerals Tuesday afternoon.

Choir practice Thursday evening.

How long has it been since you were at the Communion Service?

THE CHILDREN COME

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TRUTH moves but slowly, but it moves.
It takes a century of thought
Before the race a thing approves
That in a moment might be wrought.
The hearts of women long ago
Knew war was wrong and war a show,
But men have stilled the mother's groan
With horns a little louder blown.

But now I hear another tread,
Another generation nears.
Truth moves but slowly, but ahead.
The world is tired of making tears.
We thought us wise, yet into war
The sad world blundered as before.
With grief again the world is dumb.
But there is hope: The children come!

YOUR Last Name

IS IT WASHBURNE?

THE Washburne family, which is one of the finest in New England, traces descent to John Washburne who settled in Duxbury, Mass., in 1631. He was a member of an old English family that derived its name from Washbourne, County Worcester. Washbourne gave the name to this family and was the seat of the family until 1582. The earliest mention to one of the name dates from the reign of Edward I when a Walter de Wasseburne was mentioned.

There was an Israel Washburne of this family who served valiantly in the Revolution, a Benjamin Washburne, born in 1816, who was secretary of state, and Israel Washburne, his brother, who was governor of Maine. Cadwallader Colden Washburne was a member of congress, major general in the Civil war and later a prominent flour manufacturer. His brother was Elihu Benjamin Washburne, member of congress, secretary of state, and minister to France. He was the only foreign representative who remained in Paris through both the siege and commune period.

BORIE—This is a name of French origin. Adolph E. Borie, born in 1809, was the son of John Borie, a Frenchman.

RUFFIN—This name is an old name in North Carolina, and was undoubtedly of French origin. In England the name Rufine was introduced by Dr. James Rufine, a student of Leyden in 1671. He went to England because of his Protestant beliefs after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes. He married Elizabeth Young and founded the Rufine family in Suffolk county, England. The founder of the American Ruffin family may have been akin to this family whose name is spelled Rufine in England.

From four things God preserve us—a painted woman, a conceited valet, salt beef without mustard, and a late dinner.

FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS

HERE is something that may be prepared a little at time, making a rare treat when all the fruit is added:

Fruit Melange.

A stone crock or a large glass jar will be the best receptacle. The fruits in their season are preserved and a cupful at a time is added to the jar. Arrange in layers without stirring and keep closely covered in a cool place all the time. Begin with berries and add peaches, pears and plums and apricots, finishing with a pint jar of maraschino cherries, though the fresh cherries will be sufficient. Let stand a month or two before using.

Peaches in Raspberry Juice

To two quarts of raspberries or canned fruit with the juice drained off, add four quarts of peaches and seven pounds of sugar; this will make about eight to ten pints of this preserve. Boil the strained juice; if it is from canned fruit allow less sugar; add a few crushed peach kernels for flavor. Add the peaches cut into halves a few at a time, cooking them quickly until clear. Remove from the sirup, cool and allow them to stand until perfectly cold before canning. The juice is then boiled again and poured over the fruit which has been packed in the jars. Any fruit juice may be used—pineapple, strawberry or grape; all will make delicious preserves.

When the carrots are small in size, cold-pack a few jars of them for winter. Then when wanted all that is needed is to heat and serve them with any desired sauce. After scalding them place in jars, partly seal after adding salt—one teaspoonful to a quart—and filling the jar with boiling water; cover well with boiling water and boil one and one-half hours. Remove and seal tightly.

Found At Last---The Average American Citizen

Above are shown the U. S. Census Bureau's requirements for the Average American, and Cecil Alfred Johnson, who meets nearly every on of them. His home is near the exact center of population of the United States.

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer.

Whitehall, Ind., Jan. 15.—At last—that Average American Citizen you have heard so much about has been found.

He lives in this remote village of 50 inhabitants, eight miles from a railroad line.

He pays $3 a month rent for his home. He is married and has four children. He believes in God and says this country is the best in the world.

His name is Cecil Alfred Johnson. Besides being the closest resident to the national center of population, Johnson qualifies closely in all the characteristics the U. S. Census Bureau says the Average American Citizen must have.

The center of population of the United States is a big tree 1.9 miles west of Whitehall. Mathematicians have figured it out to a hair's breadth. It shifts from year to year. Johnson lives little more than a mile from the exact center.

What He Should Earn.

The Average American should earn $2150. Johnson earns $2100.

The Average American should be about 26 years old and weigh 148½ pounds. His complexion should be "intermediate." He should be a mechanic.

Johnson is 28 and has four children instead of the required three, but the rest of the data fits him like a glove. Even his complexion and that of his wife fit the census requirements exactly.

Mrs. Average American is supposed to be a few months under 25. Mrs. Johnson is 25. Her height, weight and complexion are almost identical with those arrived at by the census bureau—statistic that were arrived at after examination of 2000 subjects whose forefathers had been Americans for three generations.

Farming ranks second to mechanical trades in the bureau's list of gainful occupations. Johnson has been a farmer, too, and right now occasionally pitches in when a neighbor needs a hand.

The chief aim of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson is to rear their children to useful citizenship. Neither has any use for rouge, powder or short skirts.

"The girls ought to rub some of the paint off so a fellow can see what he's getting," says Johnson.

Defends Prohibition.

Johnson upholds the dry law and does not believe in its modification in the slightest degree.

"I've taken a drink or two," he says, "but liquor does no good. I guess we can get along without it. Besides there's too many automobile nowadays."

Johnson, while he fails to get a kick out of politics, thinks President Coolidge is making good, although Johnson is a Democrat at heart.

And here is his philosophy of life:

"I only want enough money to get along on. What's money anyhow? I just want to lay away a little for a rainy day.

"I want the children to have a chance. That's why I live in this small town. I could make more money in a city.

"Success is not money. Success is having friends. I'd rather have for my friends the 50 people who live in Whitehall than go to a city and slave for riches or fame.

"If you have friends and they love you and you love them, why, man, that's living."

NEWS FROM MISSOURI CITIES AND TOWNS

Kirksville, Mo., Jan. 15.—Glenn Frank, former editor of the Century Magazine and now president of the University of Wisconsin and a Kirksville boy, paid one of the prices of greatness and glory on a recent visit to his "old home town."

President Frank was a good looking and a very dignified person when he stood on the station platform talking with friends who had come to see him. In the midst of this informal reception around the corner wandered a lanky six-foot son of the soil, with hat torn and crimpled and overalls that were badly fringed.

Suddenly he spied the university president, immaculate in spats, cane and other sartorial adornments becoming a youthful educator and executive. Walking quickly up behind him, the big farmer swung a powerful arm which had evidently seen years of service at a plow handle, caught the town's visitor squarely in the back and sent him reeling forward about three good paces, accompanying the physical greeting with "Hullo, Frank. How are yuh?"

The distinguished townsman, who earned his reputation for gameness while preaching in a small church here in his boyhood days, managed to stagger back and shake hands with his old-time friend, but his voice was weak, and he completed his visit backed against the station wall to prevent any other possible flank attacks.

Laclede, Mo., Jan. 15.—Large shipments of hay are being made by farmers in this section. The farmers between here and Meadville are preparing to ship fifty carloads to Nebraska points for a Kansas City Commission firm in the next week.

Mexico, Mo., Jan. 15.—Macon High School basketball squad will meet the Hardin College quintet here tonight.

With two games already to the team credit in before the holiday battles, Miss Gray Moody, director of athletics and basketball coach, has had two weeks of practice to get her team in readiness for the Macon game which will be followed by an invasion of Montgomery City next Monday. The Hardin quintet has nine more games on its schedule, including tonight's contest.

St. Louis, Jan. 15.—Paul Clem Staetter who asked a divorce from his wife Daisy May, stated in Circuit Judge Hartmann's court that his wife "spent money like a drunken sailor with no regard for my earning capacity." Paul told the judge their long distance telephone bill one month was $135.

A divorce was granted, the wife not contesting.

St. Louis, Jan. 15.—Totsi's "Goodby" will be sung at the funeral service of John W. Meyer, 53, a deputy clerk in the probate court and a musician, who died here of heart disease.

This was Meyer's request. Meyer is known to radio fans having given several concerts here and had belonged to the Hot Time Minstrels, Garden Minstrels, St. Louis Quartet and the Big Brother Minstrels.

St. Louis, Jan. 15.—Having a big automobile, booze and women are blamed by Ray J. Rinderer for his downfall in confessing to a shortage of $1,685 from his accounts of the Remington Cash Register Company for which company he worked as salesman and collector.

"My parents had a big automobile and that was my downfall," he said. "I went out with the machine and got into bad company. I spent the money I took for booze and entertaining women. Sometimes I spent $40 a night but I did not get as much as I am taking the blame for.

"What hurts he is that my wife, whom I married three months ago, loves me and I have not told her anything. How am I going to face her?"

Kennett, Mo., Jan. 15 (INS).—J. S. Billings, the prosecuting attorney who represented Walter Manness, wanted in Illinois on an auto theft charge, was given as his fee an automobile which police say Maness bought from the Williams Motor Company in Salem, Ill., trading in a machine that was stolen, on the new one.

Governor Baker has honored a requisition for Maness from the governor of Illinois but before this action was taken Billings obtained Maness' release from jail and Maness is still at large.

St. Louis police have identified the car at Salem as the machine of Louis W. Daniels of Jerseyville, Ill., stolen July 18 in East St. Louis.

After Sickness Get Strong Quick

New Pleasant Way To Take Cod Liver Oil—Puts On Weight.

Nothing like the wonderful vitalizing vitamines in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But nobody wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting, stomach upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely has proved a blessing to thousands of people who have been sapped of their natural strength after a severe illness and especially after the Grippe or a stubborn cough or cold.

Ask Gaugh & Evans or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 Tablets—60 cents.—Adv.

Choosing Up

Choosing up sides is a serious business with these youthful aspirants for baseball fame at the Coral Gables Military Academy in Florida, especially so when they are being coached by no less a personage than Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, and of the Coral Gables city diamond team. The two lads certainly look in earnest. We're betting on the little fellow with the white shirt.

RHEUMATISM

While in France with the American Army I obtained a French prescription for the treatment of Rheumatism and Neuritis. I have given this to thousands with wonderful results. The prescription cost me nothing. I ask nothing for it. I will mail it if you will send me your address. A postal will bring it. Write today.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Grains finished lower on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Aggressive absorption, characteristic of the two previous sessions, was absent in a wheat market that showed signs of having grown stale. Coarse grains were under dominance of the leading cereal. The edge appeared to be off the political agitation for higher priced-corn, while oats lacked support.

Trade in wheat was the smallest in two weeks. Buying was limited. Despite a weakness, a more unsettled undertone was in evidence.

Leading locals were behind the free selling movement in corn. Cash premiums were weak, reflecting prospects of largely increased receipts.

Oats finished a shade easier deriving its weakness from other grains.

Local selling reversed the trend in provisions. Buying was scattered. Higher hogs were offset by weakness in small grains.
